OPIUM TRADE ENCOURAGED BY OFFICIALS IN SZECHUEN

Magistrates Collect Heavy "Lamp Fee" From Shops

BANDITS ACTIVE

Salt Junks Again Having Trouble; River Falling

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, Oct. 28.—In a former letter reference was made to the difficult conditions under which the salt business was being carried on, as so many difficulties are placed in the way of the junks bringing the cargo down here. Now another fleet of about 80 junks is on the way down, and they are reported to be held up about Chungchow, no doubt because the bandits have made excessive demands on the junk masters for money.

The Alice Dollar arrived here late at night on the 25th inst., and it was suspected that she had opium on board. It took a long time to find but eventually it was found concealed in a bulk-head. There was a total seizure that night of about 12 piculs, some of which was taken from the Alice Dollar, and some of which was found in sampans.

The town of Tangyang is situated about 140 li to the East of this city and a recent visit there disclosed the fact that there is a very considerable trade in Shinan opium being carried on in that district. While shops are not openly proclaiming that they are opium divans, the officials all the same collect a "Lamp Fee" from them, and the amount varies with the number of smokers the place can accommodate. Your correspondent was told that just a few nights ago a great gang of men had passed, a certain place, and they were transporting a cargo of no less that 80 coolies loads of opium. Given that each coolie was only carrying 60 catties, there must have been about three tons of opium in this consignment. And the officials connive at its transport and sale.

It is commonly known in the Tanyang district that the magistrate is enriching himself by these means, for he gets so much per thousand cash on all that is sold, and the sum that goes to him has been set as high as $400 per month. Recently he was away from home, and his bodyguard heard that a consignment of opium was on the way, so they took their arms, and waylaid the carriers, capturing from them about 7½ piculs, which was taken to the magistrate's yamen. The merchants and inn-keepers made representations to him that he could not have his cake and eat it too, and as they paid him his squeeze, he had no right to allow his men to take the opium, so a compromise had to be effected.

The Commissioner of Customs, Mr. Talbot-Bowring, is retiring, and his place has been taken by Mr. Lyons.

The river is now falling very rapidly, and there is only the prospect of another run or two for the Chungking steamers. The merchants are now glad to pay even as high as Tls. 22 per bale for cotton yarn to Chungking as against Tls. 1.60 a few months ago.

A Romantic Trek From The Land of The Midnight Sun Through The Heart Of Asia, The Fantastic Land of Mongolia, And Mysterious Thibet To Shanghai.

THE END OF THE TALE

By Larry Lehrlas

Serge Eggert and his two companions left Tibet and all its mystic lights and shadows behind in the eighth puppy of the Year of the Water-Dog, according to the Tibetan calendar. The Tibetan year cycles are a conglomeration of the East and the West—absolute proof that Mr. Rudyard Kipling's famous lines are all wrong—for the basic idea of the Tibetan calendar is Western, with the 12 zodiacal beasts, onto which the five principle Chinese elements, wood, fire, earth, iron and water, have been grafted as an importation from Buddhism. To each beast two elements have been given, so that instead of having the Year of the Monkey, as in Japan, the Tibetan calendar combines one of the elements alternately with the beast, as, the Year of the Iron Ape.

For the benefit of those who may follow in the footsteps of the three youths who trekked across the great stretches of Siberia, Mongolia and Tibet into China Serge has figured out the following calendar for the next few years:

1922—Year of the Water-Dog.
1923—Year of the Water-Hog.
1924—Year of the Wood-Mouse.
1925—Year of the Wood-Ox.
1926—Year of the Fire Tiger.
1927—Year of the Fire Hare.
1928—Year of the Earth Dragon.
1929—Year of the Earth Serpent.

The three cadets shook the dust of Tibet off their feet on the Chinese border near Rima, the last town in Tibet of any importance. There two of them were entertained in the lamasery for three days while Andro made a visit to the Rima caves where the wise men of Tibet are supposed to hibernate, coming out of their bleak holes in the ground only now and then to utter up some word of wisdom—and then return to think another thought for a year or two.

They left Rima with light hearts for even China was a promised paradise after the long, gruelling 8 months they had spent in reaching its border at Likiang, near the headwaters of the Yangtsze. They had left Archangel in February in 'way-below zero weather with the countryside sculptured in snow and ice, traveled by dog-sled through a vast area of Northern Russia, working downward to the Altai Mountains—"the Mountains of Gold," where they narrowly escaped recapture and certain death at the hands of the Bolsheviki.

MONGOLIAN NIGHTS

Across Mongolia, a picturesque land of horsemen, red-robed lamas and white and black felt yurts they had ridden wild little Mongolian ponies in the very tracks the barbarian hosts of Ghengiz Khan had ridden under his conquering yak-tail banners hundreds of years before. They had lived among the great-great-grandsons of the first class fighting men who had ridden in the great Khan's armies, eating their food, drinking their drinks, observing and following their customs and habits—a fantastic series of Mongolian nights—and days.

Swinging down through Dzungaria—the cockpit of Asia—where armies had clashed from the days of the Great Khan to the present they had approached the long, bleached-skeleton decorated trail across which the camel caravans traveled to far-off Urga and Peking. At Hami they had lived for a short time among the same people—and with conditions only slightly changed—as had Marco Polo hundreds of years before when he traveled across inner Asia and gathered the material for his picturesque and colorful tales and descriptions of an unknown people and their lands and customs.

Climbing a branch of the far flung Asian mountains the exploring vagabonds had climbed to the 'roof of the world'—mystic Tibet, the Land of Bod, where red-robed lamas are kings of all they survey and a reincarnation of Buddha himself sits in the seats of the mighty in his mud palace in the sacred mecca of Lhassa.

HINTERLAND MEMORIES

During their perambulations across inner Asia they had seen grotesque, weird 'Dances of the Devils' with lamas providing the fantastic gyrations; the burning of an enormous straw 'devil' in order to eradicate a cattle epidemic; they had crossed fabled rivers on ferry boats for which horses furnished the motive power, and in queer long boats with puffed up sheep-bladders used as outriggers; they had ridden on the backs of wild little Mongolian broncos, jogging, wobbling camels—the ships of the desert—and strange wooden wheeled carts guaranteed to turn a red brick black and blue. They had eaten mutton until pork, beef, pheasant or chile con carne tasted like wool in their mouths. They had drunk salty tea until they began fearing for the inherent saltiness of the oceans on the map.

They had slept in felt yurts, little stone houses, Kirghiz tents, in the open under the mountain and desert stars, and on the backs of loping ponies. They had almost frozen wrapped in furs across the Siberian wastes. They had almost suffocated in a sandstorm that swept the trail they rode out of Guencher along the edge of the Gobi desert. They had seen the stuffed skins of the

Several Thousand Men On Strike In Pootung As Result Of Agitation

4,000 Cotton Mill Workers Want Union Recognition; Others Walk Out In Sympathy; More Trouble Anticipated

Pootung is again the scene of a number of strikes affecting several thousand workers, the men in one instance at least walking out yesterday without having presented any demands or giving any reason for their action. There are rumors, moreover, of the movement spreading.

Cotton mill workers constitute the bulk of the strikers, but one of the B.A.T. factories was closed yesterday when the employes walked out. Union agitators are declared to be at the bottom of all the strikes.

On Wednesday night 4,000 workers employed by the Japan-China Cotton Mills stopped work, demanding that the Pootung Weavers' Union be allowed to function. Yesterday, also, workers of one of the International mills are reported to have left their tasks. Police investigations tend to show that this and the B.A.T. strike are sympathetic strikes in conjunction with the Japan-China Mill strike.

The Japan-China Mill strike is one of several which have occurred as the result of dispute over the existence of the union. Recognition was previously refused but the men went back to work. Later the Weavers' Union headquarters were closed up by the police and the cotton men are demanding that it be reopened.

Employers declare that the strikes are due to the activity of organised agitators who are seeking to band labor together largely for their own ends and that the men themselves have no grievances as regards work or pay and would be perfectly satisfied if let alone.

The recent B.A.T. strike in Hankow, which has now been amicably settled, is also said to have been the work of agitators. The workers, who went out about two weeks ago, had no demands to make upon the company and were told by the employers that if they could show that they were not being paid more than other workers in similar classes the company would increase their wages. The men returned to work without conditions and would have returned earlier, it is said, but that they were intimidated by the agitators and were not allowed to approach the plant.

The strike of gold and silver shop workers, which has been on for about a fortnight, was settled yesterday at a meeting of shop masters and workers' representatives. The men from the smaller shops had returned to work previously and those of the 16 big shops who held out will resume their jobs today.

The terms of the agreement are a victory for the strikers. Members of the old guild who receive less than $4 a month will receive an increase of 40 percent, and workers making more than $4 will secure a 25 percent increase. Members of the new guild are given a flat increase of 40 percent.

In addition the men will be paid for full time during the time they have been on strike, the terms of apprenticeship will be reduced from 6 years to 4 years and piece work will be discontinued.

The Anhuei Restaurant Workers' Union held its inaugural meeting at the Progressive Labor Union of China Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Wong Chi-sung, an ex-magistrate who is now a book-binder.

The meeting was addressed by a political agitator named Tsa, who congratulated the members of the union on the success of their fight against the employers and urged them to stand by the union and remain united, as unity and organisation were the keys to success in all disputes between labor and capital. The meeting elected a president and two vice-presidents. The union members recently secured a wage raise ranging from 20 to 40 percent.

WIRTH WELCOMES REPARATIONISTS WITH TALE OF WOE

Chancellor Says Germans Face Hard Winter

(China Press Service)

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Chancellor Wirth, during an interview with the International Reparations Commission called the attention of the commission to the great distress threatening the German people this Winter because of the shortage of foodstuffs and coal.

Chancellor Wirth pointed out that urgent measures must be undertaken at once for the stabilisation of German commerce and industry in order to allow the country to take up its reparations obligations.

Paris, Nov. 2.—It is understood in official circles here that the United States Government will await the resolution of the experts on the International Reparations Commission before the State Department will consider the participation of the United States in an international economic conference to discuss the questions of war debts. It is said that Washington does not consider the situation discouraging.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The German Government has accepted the Entente's proposal to withdraw the Interallied Military Commission of Control and replace it by a small military commission of guarantees, paid by the Entente, as soon as certain measures completing disarmament, mentioned in the Entente Note of September 29, are settled.

It is expected that the change will not merely expedite the closing stages of disarmament but that it will greatly relieve German finances.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 1.—The Reparations Commission began its negotiations in Berlin yesterday. The sitting was opened by Dr. Wirth, the Chancellor, to whom M. Barthou replied that the predominant idea in the Chancellor's program was that an international loan should be discussed before any question of financial reform.

He said that the opinion of the Commission was that the problem of the stabilisation of the mark should first be dealt with.

McDERMOTT GETS AWARD OF $350 IN S. M. C. SUIT

Plaintiff Asked Tls. 15,000 From Municipal Council For False Arrest

Judgment in the sum of Mex. $350 was given in favor of Mr. Dennis McDermott yesterday by the Consular Court ending the suit in which Mr. McDermott sought to recover the sum of Tls. 15,000 from the Shanghai Municipal Council on the grounds of false arrest and imprisonment.

This is the first time in the space of four years that the Consular Court has been called upon to act and the award in the McDermott case was announced yesterday following three sessions at which a complete record of testimony in the case was taken. The hearing was conducted by Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham, American Consul General and President of the Consular Court, Mr. Sidney Barton, British Consul-General and Mr. N Aall, Norwegian Consul-General.

According to the testimony introduced by Mr. McDermott and his brother, Mr. Terrence McDermott, the plaintiff was taken into custody without warrant or other due process when Detective Sergt. R. J. Schmidt of Hongkew Police Station accompanied by Mr. H W. Hearne, assistant clerk of the British Court, and Mr. Abbey of the Registrar's office went to his home at 894 Hanbury Road on July 21 last and compelled him to accompany them to Hongkew police station where he was locked in a cell

Answering the plaintiff's contentions it was set forth that the action of he authorities grew out of a complaint that had been made the preceding day by Mr. McDermott's wife who reported to the police that her husband had beaten and kicked her while under the influence of liquor. In his testimony the plaintiff did not deny he had quarrelled with his wife and he admitted that he had struck her.

Mr. McDermott was represented in the case by Mr. J. G. Priestwood and Mr. H. Langley Smith acted for the Municipal Council. At the conclusion of the arguments of counsel yesterday afternoon, the three presiding consul-generals retired for a short time after which the award was announced.

Under the rules of procedure of the Consular Court the case may be re-opened and further hearing may be held if it is shown in the space of sixty days that new evidence can be offered.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN BRITAIN SHOW LABOR LOSSES

Great Interest Because Of Forthcoming Fight

MANY ASPIRANTS

Conservatives Gain 89 Seats, Provincial Returns Show

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 2.—In view of the forthcoming General Election the keenest interest was displayed in the annual elections of 306 Municipalities of England and Wales yesterday, which coincided with the three-yearly elections of the London boroughs.

The latter were remarkable for the number of candidates, 2,644 contesting 1,362 seats. The Municipal Reformers combined with their former enemies, the Progressives, in an attempt to oust the Laborites from 14 Councils where the latter have majorities.

The earliest results indicate a Labor setback. Returns from the Provinces show that Labor lost 157 seats while the Conservatives gained 89. The London results were equally disastrous for Labor, who have hitherto lost 70 seats.

London, Nov. 1.—The new Ministerial appointments are noteworthy for the inclusion of four peers in addition to Lord Winterton and Lord Wolmer, who sit in the House of Commons and the stiffening of the die-hard element in the Ministry in which four important posts remain to be filled. Twenty-two of the present Ministry held office in the late Government.

The new appointments are regarded as a fresh provocation to the National Liberals and Mr. Lloyd George's next utterance is anxiously awaited. Unfortunately, it was announced today that Mr. Lloyd George has a bad throat and may not be able to speak at Bristol tomorrow.

The Manchester Guardian, which is ardently preaching the gospel of Liberal reunion, asks Mr. Lloyd George to consider the position without delay in view of the prospect of the return of the "most reactionary Government of modern times," and the obvious fact that the Conservatives do not desire his assistance.

The Manchester Guardian declares that it is not necessary for Mr. Lloyd George to swear allegiance to Mr. Asquith. He only needs to declare himself a Liberal and the local associations will do the rest. It dwells on the evidence of the personal popularity of Mr. Lloyd George as his most valuable asset.

London, Nov. 1.—The Cabinet held its first meeting today, Mr. Bonar Law presiding. The proceedings were cinematographed.

Mr. Lloyd George has a severe cold and is confined to his room. Lord Birkenhead will replace him at the meeting at Bristol tomorrow. The presentation of the freedom of the City of Bath to the former Premier, tomorrow, has been indefinitely postponed.

U.S. IS ADAMANT ON DEBT ISSUE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Will Send Envoy To Europe, But Must Not Talk Cancellation

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 1.—America's tacit recognition of the International High Court of Justice is contained in an announcement that President Harding is willing to have a representative on the Court.

The President has also intimated that he will not send representatives to the Brussels Economic Conference but that he is willing to enter the Economic Conference if the Allied debts to America are not on the agenda.

President Harding is represented as adamant in insisting on full recognition of European obligations, opposing all pleas for cancellation, but also willing to show leniency regarding period of payment.

WITNESS ACCUSES TICKET INSPECTOR IN SUICIDE CASE

Declares He Urged Stowaway To Leap Into River

Testimony of eye witnesses was taken yesterday at the Mixed Court in the case wherein a Chinese ticket inspector of the steamer Luen He is charged with instigating a stowaway passenger to commit suicide in the Yangtsze on October 2.

When the hearing of the case was resumed before Assessor Mead and Magistrate Tsang yesterday Mr. M. B. Brown appeared to prosecute on behalf of the Anhuei authorities and Messrs. J. E. Salmon and K. E. Newman appeared for the accused. The Assessor, in response to an inquiry by counsel, stated that a despatch warrant had been received from the Anhuei authorities and officers had been sent here to ask custody of the accused.

Mr. Brown again outlined the case and then a coolie fellow passenger of the deceased was called to the witness stand. Mr. Brown said that he would call four witnesses who had been on the ship when the deceased Lieu Ong-nyoh jumped into the river near Siau Koo San.

The coolie said that he and the deceased and several others boarded the ship at Hankow, having no money or tickets. They were discovered by the ticket inspectors and were ordered to go ashore when the boat reached Kiukiang. They did not do so but went down into the hold and after the ship had sailed were again discovered. The ticket inspectors, including the accused, then ordered them upon deck and struck and roughly handled them. The deceased, the witness said, who was better dressed than the others, was singled out by the accused for special abuse. Accused threatened to have him strung up by the hands and feet if he did not produce money or a ticket, and a rope was brought. The deceased pleaded for mercy and proffered his coat and a counterfeit dollar, all he had, to be allowed to continue to Nanking. Upon his offer being rejected the deceased said that he had better go overboard. The accused then urged him to do so and kicked him as he went across the deck. Deceased climbed the rail slowly and finally jumped. He reappeared above the surface of the water two or three times and then disappeared. The river was very wide at that point, over ten li, and if his friend had been swimming he could easily have been seen for a long distance.

Upon hearing his shouts and those of another of his companions, witness said, many passengers rushed up to find out what was the matter and they were very angry with the accused. The accused thereupon ran to his cabin and was afterward locked in by the commander, who promised to see that he was held. The passengers and ship's servants, however, witness said, were in an angry mood and gathered about the cabin and broke the windows, some of them wanting to throw the accused overboard. Seeing this, accused tried to commit suicide in the cabin by hanging himself with a rope, but was prevented from doing so.

When the ship reached Shanghai accused was kept on board until the passengers had all disembarked and was then released, but witness and his friends were watching on shore and had him arrested and communicated with the Anhuei organisation here.

The case was adjourned for further hearing at as early a date as possible.

Filipino Is Held On Charge Made By Two Cabaret Girls

Victor Antido, Filipino, who has styled himself manager for the Misses Juanita Antido and Enriquita Discher, young Filipino girls who have been appearing as entertainers at a cabaret establishment, was held yesterday for trial in the United States Court for China on a charge of assault preferred by the young women. Bond in his case was fixed in the sum of Gold $5,000 yesterday afternoon by U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton.

No testimony was introduced at the hearing yesterday as Antido waived preliminary hearing. In a statement made by Maj. C. P. Holcomb, acting United States District attorney, however, Antido was accused of having made an assault upon the two young women when they refused to pay over their earning to him.

Three Stowaways Back From Japan Given Hearings

American, German And Chinese All Tried To Get Away On Kumano Maru

Three wayfarers who sought to leave Shanghai by stowing away on the steamer Kumano Maru when it sailed about two weeks ago were sent back by the Japanese authorities at Kobe and were given court hearings yesterday. One of the cases, that of Joseph Richman, an American, was dealt with by U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton and the other two, those of F. K. Schulze, a German, and Dzung Tsoong-dee, Chinese, came up in the Mixed Court before British Assessor King and Magistrate Loh.

In the court of the United States Commissioner, Richman related a tale of wandering that began when he lost his ship at Singapore whence he succeeded in working his way to Manila. From the authorities at Manila he obtained passage to Hongkong where he was supplied with sufficient funds to get to Shanghai. He had been unable to find employment or to get a berth on a ship here, he said, and as a last resort he tried to stow away with the hope of getting back to the United States. No decision was given in the case and Richman is being held until a place can be found for him on a vessel bound for America.

In the Mixed Court the German Schulze, who is a youth of 18, said he had found it was impossible for a German to get work in Shanghai and it was with the hope of being able to get to the United States that he had stowed away on the Japanese steamer. Dzung, the Chinese, told the court that he was a broker and his purpose had been to go to Japan where formerly he said he was in business. The two defendants in the Mixed Court both were permitted to give personal bonds and were released.

VACUUM CLEANER NOW MANICURES THE CITY STREETS

The vacuum cleaner, applied with such notable success to the interior of the modern home, is now being tried out in Shanghai as the possible remedy for the dust and dirt evil afflicting the city's streets. And the trials thus far are regarded as satisfactory by the Public Works Department.

The new street cleaning device is a Baxter Vacuum Street Cleaner, recently imported by the P.W.D. from America, where it has been put into use with much success in such cities as Pasadena and Los Angeles, Cal., and Washington, D. C.

The cleaner is mounted on a motor truck chasis. Wire brush rollers run along in front of the suction device—a flat, box-like mouthpiece, surrounded by weighted leather flaps—and loosen all the dirt, which is then sucked upward by a powerful fan and shot into the huge tank body of the vehicle. As it passes in it is sprayed with a fine spray of moisture which settles it to the bottom of the tank.

The P.W.D. has been trying the cleaner out daytimes on some of the smaller, lesser used thoroughfares, and for the past two nights has been using it on some of the main streets downtown, where its activities have been watched with interest by many. It travels at a rate of two or three miles an hour and makes the well-known vacuum cleaner noise, somewhat magnified.

Public Works Department officials said yesterday that the performance of the machine thus far had been entirely satisfactory but it will be given further tests before a report is made.

REAL LIVE LION CAUSES STIR ALONG THE BUND

It was all same circus day back home along the Bund and Yangtszepoo Road yesterday morning, when throngs of Chinese, youngsters of all ages, formed galloping clusters alongside one of the Commercial Express and Storage Company's trucks which bore, securely crated, a real live, rampaging lion.

The lion arrived at the Customs Jetty from Japan and thereby hangs a tale. The beast, it seems, is part of an American circus which has run into difficulties in Nippon, and came over to Shanghai in custody of a young lady representative of the circus management after having been smuggled aboard ship during the night.

The circus is one headed by a Mr. Carter, an American, who has been touring in Japan for several months. The tour was so prosperous, it is stated, that the Japanese promoters thought they were not getting a large enough slice of the proceeds and have sought to tie up the show while suing the proprietor on breach of contract claims. The matter is said to have been taken up to the American Embassy by Carter, who intends to bring his company to China as soon as the litigation is finished. The difficulties of the circus are said to be similar to those encountered by the troupe of American fliers whose experiences with the Japanese promoters were reported about a year ago.

Clever Mail Thief Convicted Of Looting Foreign Post Boxes

Chinese Steals Letters Of Whiteaway's And Andersen, Meyer

Details of a highly efficacious system of Post Office robbery put into effect here were given in the Mixed Court yesterday before Assessor Allman and Magistrate Yui, when a Chinese named Zung Yeong-woo was brought up on charges preferred by Whiteaway, Laidlaw's and Mr. J. E. Griffith, of Andersen, Meyer and Co.

The Chinese, the police evidence showed, happened to be in the Chinese Post Office at Peking Road on October 19 when the coolie from Whiteaway's was removing the firm's mail. The coolie dropped two letters, which the defendant picked up. Shortly thereafter he wrote a letter to the Post Office authorities, purporting to be from Whiteaway's and stating that the key to the company's box had been lost. He applied and got a new key, paying 50 cents. He followed out the same procedure in connection with the Andersen, Meyer box and also procured a key to that receptacle. After securing the keys he visited the boxes on at least seven occasions and removed the mail, getting, it is believed, 18 letters addressed to Whiteaway's and 30 addressed to Andersen, Meyer and Co. In the former were documents valued at $180 and in the latter documents valued at $159.81.

The accused was arrested when he presented a forged letter, purporting to have been written by Mr. Griffith, at the Whiteaway store. When taken into custody he had $100 which he said he had obtained from a letter to Whiteaway's.

A further charge of forging the name of Mr. K. Hara was also brought against Zung and he was found guilty and remanded in custody for one week to make further investigation of his activities.

Yak-Tail Trails

wild yak hung in the rafters of dim, murky Tibetan temples and staked in the fields at scare-crows. They had lived!

In a little village where they spent their last night in Tibet Serge's dreams were filled with galloping horses, red-clad lamas, picturesque men and women, mountains, deserts and steppes—the gamut of human adventures in strange, unexplored places where the natives never before had seen the face of a white man. The dreams combined a poignant sadness—for vagabondia coursed flatter in his blood and he was sorry to leave the nomadic, colorful life behind—and thankfullness, for he had escaped from the red ruin of his native land and on the last stage of a ten-thousand mile long trek.

On a junk on the upper Yangtsze the three vagabonds sailed and drifted down the river through familiar scenes to [illegible] in China, to Shanghai. Serge, since arriving [illegible] has secured a job and is marking time until he saves enough money to get to America—the land of hope and promise—for in Iowa, the heart of the corn belt, is an old time friend of his father's who has promised to help him get his start in the New World. And so the next jump the boy vagabond takes will be from the sublime adventure to the ridiculous—from blood and venture and thrills to a Ottumwa, Io-way!

Dr. Sze May Head Railways Bureau

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—Rumor has coupled the announcement of the Foreign Office that a new Minister to London will be appointed shortly, with the name of Dr. Wang Chung-hui. It is considered impossible for his Cabinet to last much longer and when it falls, it is said that he will be sent to London. It is natural for the Government to hold off the announcement until the Cabinet does go.

A further linking up of names is suggested in the approval of Dr. Alfred Sze's request for leave to return to China on a holiday. It is understood on some sides that Dr. Sze will be made the new Minister of Communications.

Dr. Sze held this post in the early years of the Republic. It is also pointed out that his services in connection with the Chinese Eastern Railway would be valuable as at one time he was Taoyin of Harbin. From his residence there he is familiar with the line.

Giesel Again Testifies In Liquor Larceny Case

Intimation that three charges of larceny and one of conspiracy will be framed against A. C. Mack today was given by Magistrate G. W. King of the British Police Court at yesterday's hearing of the case in which Mack is charged with theft of liquors from Giesel and Co. Magistrate King is expected to make known his decision when the hearing resumes at 11 o'clock this morning. He expressed the opinion that there was sufficient doubt in his mind on the conspiracy complaint to send the case to a jury.

Mr. P. W. Goldring, counsel for the prosecution, asked for charges on six counts claiming that they were all co-related, and were "all part of one gigantic scheme to defraud generally."

There were two witnesses when the case was resumed yesterday, former United States Marshal Nelson E. Lurton and Albert Giesel of Giesel and Company, the complaining witness.

Mr. Lurton testified that in June last he was acting as Marshal of the United States Court. He had certain cases of liquor which were seized by him in November, 1921, in an action brought by the Chinese-American Bank against Reids, Ltd., and these were stored in Mackenzie and Company's godown. The liquor was eventually transferred, as in June last a stipulation was filed by the creditors of Reid's, Ltd., that it should be turned over to Giesel and Co. Since that stipulation was filed, a copy was sent to him and the liquor turned over to Giesel and Company with the godown warrant. The proceeds were to be turned over to the United States Marshal by Giesel and Co. The stipulation called for the sale of the liquor by Giesel and Co. Negotations for the transfer of the wine were made by Mack on behalf of Giesel and Co.

Mr. Giesel, recalled by Mr. Goldring, gave evidence of going to the French police station store with Mr. Goldring, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Wing and being shown a lot of merchandise seized at premises in Yochow Road. He did not know how many cases there were. From one of them was taken a bottle which was initialled by Mr. Goldring and Mr. Wing and was produced in court. Another lot of goods in beer cases bore capsules with the name James Hennessy and Co. He was positive that the beer cases belonged to Giesel and Co. On the Noilly Prat vermouth cases he noticed that the mark had been taken off and a new mark put on. All the cases were marked "WRO," a mark witness did not know.

The company had large quantities of corks and capsules and about 2,000 empty brandy bottles in the Chaofoong Road godown.

Regarding purchases of whisky from Mack, witness said the firm had bought ten barrels of "Sunnybrook" whisky in June, delivery being made in three lots of two barrels each and one lot of four barrels. This was bottled and sold.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Wing, the witness said he had heard that Mack had a quantity of liquor of his own in the godown.

Replying to Mr. King, Mr. Giesel said he himself never saw the vermouth from the Chinese-American Bank and had not spoken to the Bank regarding relabelling the vermouth.

Sherbinin Contract Case Concluded In U. S. Court

Taking of testimony in the suit of A. G. De Sherbinin against the U. S. Trading Corporation was concluded yesterday in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier and the suit is being submitted on briefs.

In the action, in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover the sum of Gold $14,771.25 for alleged breach of contract, Mr. Stirling Fessenden is appearing for the plaintiff and Mr. R. T. Bryan for the defendant. Questions of specifications in connection with the contract for a cargo of 137 tons of twisted steel reinforcement bars were dealt with at yesterday's hearing.

Mr. George E. Young, former general manager of the U. S. Trading Corporation was the only witness called by the defendant inasmuch as other witnesses had made depositions prior to their departure from Shanghai. Mr. Young testified that he had accepted the cargo of steel bars on a telephonic offer made by Mr. Daub on behalf of De Sherbinin and Company and had resold them to his client, a Chinese dealer.

When the dealer examined the cargo he found that the bars were not as specified and therefore refused delivery. This fact was immediately reported to the defendant who declared that the contract made with the U. S. Trading Company was null and void inasmuch as the original acceptance had been made dependant upon the dealer's acceptance.

Mr. Young stated further that he told both Mr. Daub and Mr. Sherbinin jr. that he would do everything possible to help him sell the cargo, since Mr. Daub admitted that he did not know its specifications exactly and therefore offered to have it re-surveyed by an accredited surveyor. Mr. Young could not say whether this had ever been done since he left for Tientsin during the negotiations.

During the time the negotiations were pending several memoranda and letters were exchanged between the U. S. Trading Corporation and A. G. De Sherbinin and Co. regarding the disposal of the goods.

On cross-examination Mr. Fessenden brought out the facts that while the first transactions were supposed to have taken place and concluded during April and May 1920, during July in the same year a further letter was received from the U. S. Trading Corporation evidently purporting to be an acceptance of the original offer, made April 21, 1920. The witness stated that he knew nothing regarding correspondence in May and June since he was in the United States during that time.

After Mr. Young finished giving his testimony Judge Lobingier set November 16 for the plaintiff's brief and November 30 for the defendant's. The case was then adjourned.

'A' Company, British, Has Enjoyable Day At Range At Annual Musketry Meet

"A" Company British Annual Musketry Meeting took place on October 29, when 41 members fired their Trained Men's classification course for the season of 1922-3. Weather conditions were excellent and a most enjoyable day was spent at the Range.

Previous to firing the Musketry course the day was opened at 7 a.m. with two inter-section team competitions for the "Pilcher" Trophy, and the "X. S" cup, which were "knock out" plate competitions, in which some very good shooting was done, the winning sections being No. 4, under L/Cpl. Fanthorpe, and No 1, under Cpl. Sullivan respectively.

Tiffin was arranged in conjunction with the Shanghai Scottish, who were in Camp, by courtesy of Captain Alister Campbell, and was a very pleasant "get togcther" function. Captain Stewart, Captain Sellick and the H. Q. staff were present as guests of "A" Company. Eight members secured marksmans points; 14, 1st class; 11, 2nd class, and 8, 3rd class. Owng to the generosity of several old members of the Company backed by subscriptions from present members a prize fund was raised which has enabled the Musketry Committee to increase the number of prizes and allow of each class competing separately.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

BETTORS WIN WHEN THEY WIN

Some Birds Would Borrow Matches Off A Loser

When Canfield twirled the golden carousel at this gentle dot on the map, everybody was compelled to wear full dress.

High hat, swallow tail coat and patent leather shoes. That's no costume for jumping off the wharf.

They dress more sensibly now for the high dive. Flannel trousers, knickerbockers and pongees. All the boys wear bathing trunks under their uniforms because they know the plunge is coming sooner or later.

Pigs in clover is easy compared with doping the live frankfurters that are scampering around the one-way street. The season is more than half over and all the hoss guessers are using oak leaves for money.

It's been a good month for the bookies. If they get paid.

The oral system of betting enables the boys to take it on the lamm. If they don't bob up with the stuff that make the cash register ring, they are ruled off the turf for life. Some of 'em get ruled off for life every morning.

There are some birds up there who are so many they would borrow matches off a loser. But the bookies will generally give a customer a bet even when they know he hasn't got enough coin left to buy a used toothpick.

But when the bookie loses, he's got to pay. That's his business and if he wants to open the front door in the afternoon he's got to pay the boys at the back gate.

Figuring it out, the bookie has the edge when he's winning, but he's liable to be knocked cold any race. And he wins—when he gets paid.

TOBACCO FIRM'S FORMER H'KONG MANAGER HELD

Liggett And Meyers Employe Accused Of Grand Larceny

H. G. Theyken, former manager of the Hongkong branch of Liggett and Meyers Tobacco company, was arrested on his arrival in Shanghai late Wednesday night on charges of grand larceny and after waiving preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon in the court of United States Commissioner N. E. Lurton he was held for trial in the United States Court for China. Bail in the sum of Gold $6,000 which was fixed by Commissioner Lurton was supplied yesterday by the accused and he was released.

Highly important disclosures in connection with the affairs of the offices of Liggett and Meyers at Hongkong and Canton, it is believed, will be made at two criminal hearings that are to be held in the United States Court for China here, as Theyken is the second man from the tobacco company's southern offices to be apprehended recently and held by the American authorities of Shanghai.

On October 22 H. E. Falcone, former assistant manager of Liggett and Meyers at Canton, was arrested on charges of embezzlement on board of the steamer President Grant on which he was en route to Seattle. This warrant, issued on complaint filed by Mr. C. B. Arthur, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer of Liggett and Meyers' Shanghai office, was served by Deputy United States Marshal William Van Buskirk and the warrant in the case of Mr. Theyken, which also was issued on complaint of officials of the tobacco company here, also was served by Deputy Marshal Van Buskirk. Mr. Theyken and his wife came to Shanghai on the steamer Sinkiang which arrived in port at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

According to information given in connection with the charges against Mr. Falcone it is alleged that he obtained the sum of $292.32, belonging to Liggett and Meyers at Canton on October 21... A much larger sum is involved in the case of Mr. Theyken, a sum said to be in the neighborhood of Mex. $18,000.

Following the arrest of Mr. Falcone the firm of Schuhl and Schoenfeld was engaged by Liggett and Meyers to assist in the prosecution and it is understood that these attorneys will act also in connection with the charges against Mr. Theyken. The firm of Rodger and Haskell appeared for the defense at the preliminary hearing that was held in Mr. Falcone's case when he waived preliminary hearing and was released on bail of Gold $600. This firm is acting also for the defense in the case against Mr. Theyken.

ROTARY CLUB MAY PRODUCE "LINCOLN" PLAY

Bringing Out Of Drinkwater's Drama Is Proposed

At yesterday's weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club, Mr. E. P. Graham Barrow was the principal speaker, his subject being "Amateur Theatricals." After tracing the history of the drama from the time of mystery plays till the present day, he suggested that the Rotary Club should produce the famous play "Abraham Lincoln." This play was originally produced in London, at Hammersmith, and had a successful run of six months, after which it proved equally popular.

Mr. Graham Barrow said that he had already found a lady and gentleman eminently suitable for the two principal parts; he proposed to select the remainder of the cast from among the members of the Rotary Club. The President, Mr. H. B. Lane, promised that the proposal would have the early and sympathetic consideration of the Club.

Mr. R. Schiemmer, of the International Committee of the Red Cross addressed the meeting, and gave particulars of the work of the society.

Mr. S. D. Ren announced that plans for the Club's Christmas celebrations were now complete. The two charities selected were the King's Daughters' children's party in January next, and the St. Joseph's Institute Christmas party for the one hundred and fifteen girls under their control.

Sympathetic reference was made to the death of Mrs. Holgate, wife of a prominent member of the Club. A welcome was extended to Mr. Harold C. Norman, Immediate Past-President, on his return from furlough.

The Club Dance has been postponed to November 15.

Pavlowa

Pavlowa! Still the incomparable!

Last night she came. We saw, and were again conquered with the magic of her charm. Needless to say the Olympic Theatre was filled to the limit. The curtain rose well after 9:30—this must be forgiven, it was a first night—but it did not fall until midnight had passed, and another day had been ushered in. But it was "Maskee the day, we want some more." The curtain fell. It rose again. This "up and down" affair was repeated until the wonderful Pavlowa had to bow her acknowledgments again to her admirers.

There were three parts to a great program. Each number in each part calls for appreciation. Criticism is out of the question. There is beauty. There is a succession of perfect pictures that delight the eye. There are extraordinary portrayals of the great emotions. There is music visualised. There is the poetry of motion.

Pavlowa brings to music-loving and dancing-loving Shanghai the music of the masters, and the dancing of the fairies.

But the day is spent and the next day has begun, and it would not be fair to even try to write an appreciation of last night's wonderful production.

The telling of all the joys of Pavlowa and her splendid company will be my endeavor for the morrow. But again:

Pavlowa! Always the incomparable!

Interesting Issue Raised In British Traffic Case

An interesting issue was raised in a traffic case at the British Police Court yesterday morning when counsel for the defendant questioned whether a British subject can be prosecuted criminally for an act not considered an offense under criminal law in Great Britain.

Mr. Leslie A. Harrop, of Caldbeck, Macgregor and Company was charged before Magistrate G. W. King with negligent driving and knocking down an Annamite police constable on October 23 at 1:15 p.m. at the corner of Avenue Joffre and Route Doumer, contrary to article 16 of the French Municipal Regulations.

Mr. Tyche Wing, who appeared for the defendant, raised a preliminary objection against the prosecution and in doing so said he relied on article 25 of the Order-in-Council, which stated: "Except as regards offences made or declared such by this or any other Order relating to China or Korea or by any Rules or Regulations made under any Order, any Act that would not by any Court of Justice having criminal jurisdiction in England be deemed an offence in England shall not in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction under this Order be deemed an offence or be the subject of any criminal proceeding under this Order."

The Magistrate: Do you mean to say that any British subject is allowed to infringe the French Municipal regulations?

Mr. Wing: No, unless they are criminal offences under the English law.

The Magistrate: It was settled years and years ago that French citizens are subject to the laws and regulations of the International Settlement, and British subjects are amenable to the bye-laws and regulations of the French Municipal Council. The decision had been good over and over again and never queried. It had been settled as far back, as I remember, as 1899.

Mr. Wing: If it were in England it would have been a civil matter.

ACT IS ALSO CRIMINAL

The Magistrate: Not necessarily. If you impose a fine and the defendant will not pay I take it there must be an alternative. It is exactly the same in the International Settlement. The Police constable might sue the defendant civilly, but to say that it is civil, pure and simple, I do not agree with you. Is there no Act in the Order-in-Council that covers Municipal bye-laws?

Mr. Wing: I take it that the paragraph of the Order that I have quoted is so plain. The difficulty is for the individual to carry all the bye-laws in his head.

The Magistrate: There is a long list of rules that everybody must observe. Because there are a good many of them he cannot plead ignorance. Ignorance is no excuse. The French authorities are entitled to put their regulations in French. It is the duty of all those who live in the French Council districts to get somebody to translate them. You cannot say that French authorities in their own Settlement should not print their regulations in their own language. It has been laid down and never controverted that the bye-laws of the French Council are binding on British subjects. The French Council has been extending their limits from time to time. The French Council now extends right down to Siccawei. The International Settlement before extended to St. George's Farm. At that time there was a mutual agreement between the French and British authorities that the bye-laws of each Council should be binding on the subjects of the other nations. The actual extension by the French was made about July, 1914, if I remember right. I will note your point, Mr. Wing.

Mr. Wing: In case of difficulty afterwards I wish your Worship will take the point. I am perfectly content to try the case on its merits, but I submit that under article 35 (1) unless it could be shown that the offence charged would be a criminal offence under the laws of England the defendant could not be subject to a criminal proceeding under the principal Order-in-Council here.

KNOCKED DOWN BY CAR

The Magistrate: I will put it formally that I overrule it.

The hearing of the charge was then proceeded with.

The Annamite police constable said that on the day in question he was on duty between Route Doumer and Avenue Joffre, when he saw motor car No. 3561 coming from Avenue Joffre going West towards Siccawei. It wanted to turn to Route Doumer, and he made a sign to stop, which the car did. The defendant's car No. 2983 was coming behind and was stopped. In stopping the car skidded and struck him knocking him down. He was taken to hospital by the defendant. He could not estimate the speed of the car but he knew that the back of the car hit him. Asked whether he would be prepared to accept $20 as compensation, the witness said he would.

The defendant said he was travelling at the rate of 17 to 18 miles an hour, and when he came to Route Doumer the other car, which was a hired one, appeared to hesitate which course to take. The defendant could not avoid the accident. It was raining. The center of the road was sticky, and his near wheels were in the gutter. The wheels had gripped the sand, skidded and hit the Annamite and knocked against the telegraph post. He took the constable to the hospital and had been there every day to see him. He attributed the accident to the hesitation of the chauffeur of the hired car in taking the road. The chauffeur appeared to hesitate on what side of the road he should go. That was the origin of the whole trouble. There were several accidents in that vicinity on that day.

The charge was dismissed. The defendant paid the constable twenty dollars compensation.

Mr. Wing mentioned that he did not desire to take the question that he raised to a higher court for opinion.

Gamewell School Observes Birthday, Now 50 Years Old

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—The Mary Porter Gamewell School has finished its celebration on the event of its 50th anniversary. At 10 o'clock Thursday, exercises were held at the school chapel with Mrs. Far T. Sung presiding. Mrs. G. R. Davis, one of the founders of the school and Mrs. Charlotte M. Jewell, who has been with the institution for 39 years, and Principal for 20, gave inspiring talks. Representatives of the oldest classes were present, including Mrs. Pan of Shanghai who entered the school 47 years ago, and Mrs. Chen Hengte of 44 years ago.

Addresses were also made by Mrs. C. C. Wang, Miss Eddy and Mrs. J. H. Yang. "Stunts" were indulged in by the more recent classes and at noon an alumnae feast was served in the school dining room.

The afternoon meeting was held in Asbury Church, which was crowded to its utmost capacity of 1600 people. Dr. Liu Fang presided. Greetings from President Li were brought by his representative, and Mr. Ma, Vice Minister of Education, spoke. Bishop L. J. Birney of Shanghai gave the principal address. Dr. George Sherwood Eddy spoke of the pioneer women in the West, in India and China. Dr. Chou Fu Chuan recalled the history of the school and of the wide influence of its graduates.

Registration of American Citizens

The attention of all American citizens residing in the Shanghai Consular District is invited to the fact that a Register of American citizens is kept in this Consulate-General. All who have not registered, or who have not re-registered within the last twelve months, are hereby requested to do so. The advisability of such action is obvious, especially for such persons as may require emergency passports or Consular protection.

Applicants for initial registration should bring with them all available documentary evidence of American citizenship including any passport in their possession; and should be accompanied by an identifying witness.

Under a statute in effect September 22, 1922, whereby alien women who marry Americans do not acquire American citizenship, it is now necessary to present evidence of the wife's citizenship in connection with all applications, where marriage has taken place subsequent to that date.

Persons who have once registered and have received notice of the approval of their registrations, need no further evidence when applying for re-registration. Yearly request, in person or by letter, with notice of any change in business or family status, is sufficient to effect the re-registration.

Registered Americans are urged to keep this Consulate-General informed of their correct business address, in order to insure that they will receive the notices to re-register, which this office sends out shortly before the expiration of their registrations.

EDWIN S. CUNNINGHAM,
American Consul-General.

Coal Market

In their fortnightly report on the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

Japan Coal:—Since last writing, there has been no change to report in the condition of our local market, which still remains quiet.

Fuchung Anthracite:—The market has been very active lately, with brisk local demand, and quite a few inquiries from America. Prices are firm, with an upward tendency.

Kaiping Coal:—Owing to the work of agitators a strike of some dimensions has broken out at the Mines and at Chinwangtao, and all work has been stopped in consequence. Practically no stocks of coal exist and as railway rates as well as labor are advancing, the probability is that the cost of this coal will advance almost immediately.

Chinese, American Engineers Meet

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—The fall convention of the Association of Chinese and American Engineers opened at Menshenkou, Peking, today with registration of members. There was a good muster, members being present from Shanghai, Hankow, Tientsin, Tsingtao and Tsinanfu.

The day being devoted to registration no business was discussed, but in the evening an informal dinner took place at the Grand Hotel de Pekin followed by a very interesting lecture on "Electrification of Railways" by Mr. S. T. Dood, of the General Electric Company.

Mr. Dodd is visiting Peking and the Association secured this eminent authority to deliver a lecture on a subject of such great present-day interest.

Freight Market

In their fortnightly report on the freight market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

The export trade from China to Europe and America during the period under review has continued dull, but there is a tendency to slight improvement, which it is to be hoped will continue. Cargo to New York is offering in fair quantities, but there is still little moving to the Pacific Coast.

Coastwise:—There has been a keen demand for tonnage in the Northern market, and until the close of the season prospects are likely to remain favorable.

November 2, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each unchanged in London and New York yesterday.

The London-New York cross rate improved to 445⅞.

Our Official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday and the market throughout the day was on the easy side.

In the early part of the morning business in Sterling was done at 3-3⅝ for November-December delivery and in Gold Dollars at 73¾. However the market steadied up somewhat, some business in Sterling being done at 3-3⅝ and in Gold Dollars at 74. Later in the day there were strong buyers at these rates and in the afternoon the market weakened again, closing with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-3⅝ for any delivery and gold dollars at 73¾, with buyers at ⅛d. and ⅛ point higher.

There was a good demand for Yen today and while some business in the morning was done at 65⅜ for December delivery, there were buyers at the close at 65½.

Banks were quoting 3-4½ for Sterling bills, 75¼ for Gold Dollar bills and 1080 for Franc bills.

There were again very few bills offering.

There was nothing doing in the London silver market yesterday which is reported as quiet and steady.

New York report their market as easy with sellers at the official rate.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange:—The price of silver in London at 33⅛d. spot and 33⅛d. forward is ¼d. and ⅛d. lower than this day last week. From advices to hand it appears that India has been the sole supporter of the market, with China a seller. The T.T. rate on London remains unchanged at 3s. 3½d. Locally, the market has again relapsed into a state of inactivity, and the slight improvement in trade, noticeable a week or two ago, seems for the time being to have disappeared, particularly in regard to exports. Demand from importers and speculative operations have only been on a very moderate scale. The market at the close is lifeless with sterling offering at 3s. 3⅛d. and buyers ⅛d. higher.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 40,109,000, an increase of Tls. 682,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $37,750,000, a decrease of $490,000.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

The typhoon of the Bonin will move away off Eastern Japan. The depression of the Carolines is actually stationary. Very fine weather with rather sharp cold tonight.

The American Club's New Home

THE China Press herewith extends its sincere and cordial congratulations to the membership of the American Club, not only upon the strong and forward-looking program adopted, and the equally strong and forward-looking General Committee chosen at last night's meeting, to carry the program, but upon the unanimity of decision displayed in the voting upon each item. And in these felicitations we feel that we but express the sentiments of the community as a whole.

The American Club was not launched until 1917, after America's entrance in the Great War, and no one present at its opening reception to the Allies on July 4, 1917, will soon forget the surge of enthusiasm and goodwill that prevailed on that occasion.

Need for this club had long been felt among Americans in Shanghai and the club scored an immediate success. Opened in comfortable and at that time commodious quarters, its membership soon demanded more space and additional rooms were taken. And now after only a little more than five years of existence, the membership and prospects are such that an entirely new and many times larger club house is to be built.

As has been reported, the site, opposite the Municipal Building in Foochow Road, has been purchased, and the program approved at last night's meeting calls for a building which, with the land and fittings, will represent a capital investment of Tls. 750,000. It will be an ornament to Shanghai and a convenience to its large membership, which already includes nationals of most of the great races domiciled here.

Photoplays For Churches

IT is probable that the plan of those who are promoting the manufacture of moving pictures of a religious character is only to produce in their own way the so-called feature picture. Already there exist companies turning out educational pictures without end. Evidently it is felt that there is a need of photoplays which will meet the ideals of churches. It may be inferred that it is with the regulation of the amount of sex interest in pictures that these producers are chiefly concerned. Yet there is less sex appeal in the usual cinema today than in the best or even the second best seller among novels. Already have the censors put fear into the hearts of the producers.

What the character of the religious film stories will be has not been announced. Biblical history has already figured prominently in this form of amusement. Especially from Italy have come elaborate pictures based on Scriptural themes. They resembled in a degree plays such as "Ben-Hur" and "The Sign of the Cross." "Quo Vadis" and "The Shepherd King" have enjoyed widespread popularity in America with their fine spectacles and their religious element.

Since there is an intimation that many of the films produced by the religious company are to be used in churches and are indeed intended as a sort of extension course in the services of the parishes that exhibit them it will be necessary for them to comply with requirements never imposed on the photoplay. The usual moving picture has hitherto been a work of fiction. There are enough other moving pictures of an educational character to make a program for public entertainments of a secular or spiritual nature. The religious feature picture telling a fable of every day life will be new.

Her Whims As Voter

A Study of Woman in Her New Role From An Inside Vantage Point—Illustrations of Her Earnest Side

BY REGINALD W. KAUFFMAN
(Late organiser and director of the Republican National Committee's Bureau of Publicity for Women Voters)

In 1920 the Woman Vote was too new to be known of men; by the elections of November, 1922, it should become more or less determined. Prophecy is a dangerous business, deduction from statistics more so. Yet there has been a chance for some of us men to arrive at an indication in this instance, and that chance I have shared.

For months, with unusual facilities, it has been my task to attack the puzzle: to find out what to know about politics, what they demand that their ballot shall effect, and to calculate therefrom what they will do with their ballot.

I remember, when we started, the advice of a check-suit:

"The women? Just tell 'em: 'Put your cross-mark here.'"

And I remember a velvet voice:

"God bless 'em! Flowers? Sure. Data? No. Home-and-mother propaganda; 'laughter of little children;' that's the stuff. I know the ladies."

Today the larger groups of the lesser leaders, Republican and Democratic, are still confused. The suffrage amendment admitted to their laboratories a force about which they realise only that it may explode.

When Will H. Hays was Republican National Chairman he issued the order:

"Find out what the women want to know about politics, then give it to them."

To persuade, we had first to instruct; to instruct, we must discover what information was desired. Suffrage secured, the associations formed to secure it were temporarily disorganised. We turned to the party organisation.

SOUNDING SENTIMENT

This Hays had long been employing, by decentralisation, for similar uses among men voters. I commend the plan for the sounding of party sentiment; the National Committee delegates some of its authority to the State Committees; they turn part of the delegated work over to the County Committees; these appeal to the ward and township organisations. Questionnaires reach individuals; the mass of opinion is sifted and reported from wards to counties, counties to States, States to the national center. We tried the process with women, irrespective of party affiliations.

Many mistrusted the partisan questioner. A California mail worker was challenged: "How do I know what use you'll make of my answers?"

"What improper use could I make?"

"If I knew that, I wouldn't ask."

"I can only pledge the word of a gentleman."

"All right; bring the gentleman around."

Tact was required. Rarely was our purpose announced. Talks at chance encounters, opinions dropped at club meetings, whist parties; these were best to go by. Eventually, our women's department, besides its State and county organisations, had these divisions:

1. The supervising women members of the National Executive Committee.
2. Speakers' Bureau.
3. Bureau of Foreign-Born Women Voters.
4. Moving-picture service, cooperating with the men's.
5. Branch of the men's Theater League, composed of leading players.
6. News and news photograph service.
7. Pamphlet service.
8. A monthly bulletin, each issue discussion in detail one current topic—child labor, pure food, etc.
9. A weekly "Clip Sheet," of material to be clipped and published in the women's sections of newspapers.
10. A weekly magazine.

Brevity was our first lesson. Men have time to read long speeches; women, we learned, time only to listen to them. The Busy Sex wants specific information, and wants it short. Nothing that had to be read twice in order to be understood was worth printing.

Moreover, the business of politics being new to women, we found it well to use every proper device to hold attention. Office critics said our printed matter was too yellow—we continued it—, black face and capitals. We were warned always to be solemn; we believed that woman long necessarily serious about getting the vote, would welcome a little "comic relief." Naturally a fundamental question with the politicians was whether the women would use the ballot. "Do you want to vote?" was asked. "Often," was the ambiguous reply of more than a few.

The best answer was the success of our magazine, at first a pamphlet of voting instructions—nothing to interest anybody uninterested in voting. Our first printing was only 50,000, sent to a selected list with requests for distribution solely to women known to be keen on using the ballot. Before the enterprise was three weeks old women were telegraphing for thousand lots. We were returning subscription checks, though no fee had been asked; we received an offer of $25,000 for our equity in the title; we had requests for more than a million copies per issue.

Advised that our initial task would be getting women to vote, we found that they were bent on performing that task for themselves. One wrote: "I can't—first ballot last year; it took a minute—very little time for all the fuss made."

Though a national committee's headquarters is the natural goal for cranks, our department had fewer silly letters and crackbrained callers, porportionately, than any of the men's. There was one woman who thought we could carry the country if we endorsed her patent cure for pneumonia, but this was sanity compared to the man who had been writing Hays almost daily:

"If you will swing your influence toward nominating me for President, I will appoint you Secretary of the Navy. Not my present status, but my potential strength, counts. Few men could do the intense international work I've done and not feel the effort."

SOME A BIT EXUBERANT

Some of the women were perhaps a bit exuberant. An Oregonian wrote: "I would that my tongue were dipped in the dyes of the American rainbow, colored with the colors of my country, so that I might free the orations burning within my heart." And not a few, as the following, dropped into verse:

"Shall Soviets rule where Pilgrims came—
Those sturdy, brave, God-fearing men,
Who landed here at Plymouth Rock
And builded better than they ken?"

Indeed, women take kindly to that odd art-form called the campaign song; one sent us an example, beginning:

"Within a small apartment where babies filled the air,
A fair young wife stood gazing at her husband standing there:
The husband's face was neat and clean with water and with soap,
As he held out unbroken his week's pay envelope;
The wife she gazed and gazed and gazed, face lit by joyous ray,
And then, unto her husband dear
that wife these words did say:
"Refrain:
Saturday eve, and you're on time!
It usen't to be so!
Those nights were nights of sadness; I didn't know where you'd go;
The babes had often not a shoe
and you no overcoat;
Joy's due to Prohibition, also the Woman Vote!"

Nevertheless, the years of suffrage propaganda had eased the politician's first task; women understood organisation and the suffragists knew the technicalities of vote-casting. They reacted against the least hint of autocracy, but were often too ready to endorse a high ideal without first questioning its practicality. Generally, we found them anti-Socialistic, strong nationalists. They were for "America first," favored a sensible preparedness and violently resented any military service permitting the exemption of favorites.

In one particular that taxed my staff the women outclassed the men—their appetite for information. They preferred that a policy should be true or false, were impatient of exceptions, qualifications; but they accepted a few tried theories unquestioningly. Indeed, they were more prone to query them than the

A View of Extraterritoriality

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Sir:—At the recent banquet in honor of Hon. Judge Lobingier a prominent speaker well said that, "Extraterritoriality is a long spelled word, hard to pronounce and very little understood, which in my opinion, is quite so, and to which I may add the words of the eminent author, Sir Fitz James Stephen, "of great curiosity, but very little known." That appears to be the legal aspect of "Extraterritoriality."

As a consequence of its ambiguity, those foreign Consuls in China who are vested with the executive, administrative and judicial powers by virtue thereof have frequently to interpret according to their own judgment and to the level of their legal training, and because of the non-existence of a written code of procedure, their decisions at times have been criticised as arbitrary, and, perhaps, in direct contravention to the statutes of their own sovereign countries. This anomaly may be said to have been further aggravated by the operation here in Shanghai of the so-called International Mixed Court, whose interpretations, not infrequently, have conflicted with those of its creative power, or the Consular Body. Cases of this kind, resulting in what is called a "deadlock," are referred to the Diplomatic Body at Peking, which also acts on its own judgment, for final decision. The latter Body cannot be said to sit, in such cases, as an appellate court, but merely as a board of arbitration, so that the whole proceeding is, figuratively saying, a matter of Criterion vs. Written Law.

Such a condition of affairs, as we all realise, is most unsatisfactory to all parties concerned, and may be said to have always been one of the sore spots in the cultivation of the friendly, political and economical relations between China and the Treaty Powers. A sane and unbiased study of the situation, however, as it at present obtain brings us face to face with two serious propositions bearing on the question of the proposed abrogation of Extraterritoriality (or Exterritoriality, which is shorter and easier to pronounce) in China.

It has never been seriously argued that China, as a free nation, is not entitled to enjoy her full sovereign rights and to a genuine "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," when she is prepared to receive these two highest endowments which God can bless on a free nation. Now, then, is she prepared to enjoy them at this time free of impairement? Opinions in reply to this query may vastly differ, but the fact still remains that she will be held strongly to the negative, because her own internal turmoils, financial condition, etc., have been and are such as openly to demonstrate to the world at large that she is unable to maintain and has not got a stable government that can guarantee to protect the property, life and limb of foreigners—not to say the consitutional rights of her own peaceful and law-abiding citizens.

Billions of dollars of foreign capital have been invested in China admittedly for reciprocal benefit, lured by guarantees and inducements she offered at a time when she most needed foreign co-operation; so that, it would seem rather selfish that at this early stage of her emancipation with what little idea of Western civilisation that has been inculcated into her, she should be unreasonably anxious to withdraw all such guarantees (which is meant by the abrogation of Exterritoriality) on the very face of the chaotic conditions which exist and with which she is unable to cope. A faint recollection of the Boxer trouble—the consequences of which have not, by a long shot, have as yet been ameliorated—should serve as an incentive for her to act very cautiously in this matter. As all friends and well-wishers of China will agree, despite all expressed sympathy and goodwill, rapacity will exist as long as there are more powerful nations, and as long as she is unable to defend herself from without. Playing with fire is dangerous, and we need not pause long to imagine the catastrophe that would befall her if she were again tempted to blow up the keg of gunpowder that she would find very handy.

On the other hand, as I have said above, the operation of Exterritoriality has produced at times unsatisfactory results to all concerned, and, unquestionably, there are cases on record where both sides have suffered, as a consequence. It is not my purpose, however, in this correspondence to point out where injustices have been committed here and there on the strength of it, but considering the question as a whole, and referring particularly to our ideal (?) Settlement, such instances have been negligible. A larger participation in the control of the municipal government affairs is bound to be conceded to the Chinese from time to time, as conditions warrant, but to my mind, not much will be gained by injudicious agitation. Filibustering prevails in the best of governed countries, but it is gratifying to record that in Shanghai, if not in other Treaty Ports, harmony seems to be the keynote that sounds between the Chinese and foreign merchants.

Thanking you for the publication of the above, I am, etc.,
Jno. V. Pereira.

What Fullness Of Life Can Do

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

Every healthy human being wishes to, and ought to, make the most possible of his life. It is his duty and will certainly, if he obeys that duty, be his pleasure, to fill his life full to its capacity. But this can never be done by idleness of mind or body or both. Nothing pays but discipline. The listless joys of idle hours are too soft. They have no gemlike quality. They give no lasting satisfaction. Only by his work a man attains his highest excellence.

Work does not mean simply the occupation by which one earns his living. It signifies equally any exercise of his powers by means of which he learns more about himself and the things around him. I call it work to watch intelligently and experiment ingeniously with the phenomena of nature, seeking both to understand them better and to appreciate to the full all the beauty and marvelousness that they contain.

Both that kind of work and the kind that directly earns daily bread, by tiring, monotonous, continuance of muscular and nervous effort, contribute together and alike to the filling out of one's life.

What is it to fill out your life? It is simply to develop yourself on every side: to make of yourself as complete a human creature as you can: to get away as far as possible from mere animality. You will hear people praise the "idyllic" life of the South Sea islands. There nature, they say, is so kind a nurse, or so indulgent a mother, that men and women have only to stretch forth their hands in order to have with no effort the wherewithal to live; there they need not clothe themselves; there forests and groves form houses not made with hands: there there is no need to cultivate the ground; there all may lie or stroll all day and every day in golden sunshine, or in the cooling shadows of white, wind-driven clouds, or of green branches stirred by fragrant zephyrs; there, in one sentence, men and women may have the freedom, the irresponsibility, the thoughtlessness, the carelessness, the ignorance, the irrationality of the beasts of the field, throwing away, or utterly disregarding all the nobility of human nature, the only thing that enables man to differentiate himself from the other animals.

And this sort of life is held up for us to admire, and we are told that our civilisation is a failure because it has drifted away from this delightful "simple freedom" into the "slavery" of the working world. But work is not slavery, if man understand it right. Modern civilisation is not a failure merely because injustice, inequity, predatory greed, oppression of the weak, heartlessness, selfishness and other crimes and outrages flourish under it like weeds in a rich soil.

It is true that civilisation may become a failure if it does not correct and eliminate such evils, but in spite of all that the pessimists say, the beginning of such correction may now be seen in many directions.

The great need is of a little cool-headed patience, guided and controlled by a fixed purpose to bring about reform slowly, gradually, without violence or any backward swing toward anarchy. One of the brightest signs of a moment visible in the inspiriting cloudless morning is at this very fact that the great railroad strike has been attended by less violence and disorder than any preceding event of the kind that can be compared with it in magnitude.

All such experiences lead to greater fullness of life, through the discipline that they afford to the powers of observation and of self-restraint and of logical reasoning that weighs and considers both sides.

In the loosening of faith, which is a periodical phenomena in psychology, consolation might by some be found in the thought that the cultivation of fullness of life is a kind of approach toward immortality, because the man of full life serves his contemporaries so widely and deeply that his influence remains a living force long after his physical personality has dissolved.

The person who develops himself, or herself, to the utmost becomes a kind of human star, or sun, radiating from an almost exhaustless store energies that tend to kindle similar fires in hundreds or thousands of others. We have all felt the influence of persons possessing this fullness. They are springs or reservoirs of force, because they have, during all their life, kept their minds open to the inflow of the suggestions and influences of nature, without being mere conduits, but always digesting, interpreting and giving new force to what they have received.

they ask a betterment of the postal service, an extension of rural free delivery, the parcel post and the postal savings system. They favor increased Federal meat inspection, more pure-food regulation, further civil service reform and the betterment of the condition of women in industry.

About everything else, they are still asking why political parties are necessary. They are inclined to think the man more important than the platform and the party's record more vital than its promises; but they were mostly, to begin with, not party folk.

As to methods and tactics, we found less difficulty than had been expected. There are some women, trained in the war for suffrage, who give our elder tacticians instruction. Generally, the women approve the methods previously used by the women suffragists; but they have all a keen nose to detect false scents; they are not to be distracted by a straw man or frightened by a scarecrow.

So far as I have observed, the women party workers go in excellent accord with the men. Of course, they sometimes disagree—there are occasional differences, for that matter, among the women themselves—but no more often than between men and men, perhaps less so. Unlike some of the men, the women will do any sort of legitimate work and not think it beneath their dignity. The quality described as "politic" in a man and "tact" in a woman is most necessary in politics and more frequent in woman.

The check-suited gentleman said we would find the women jealous of us, and some were, but some only. He predicted that we would "die of crank women"; besides those few already mentioned, I recall but one other.

I have intimated that insurance companies ought to list the occupation of prophet as among the "hazardous trades," and yet I am going to try my hand at something allied to prophecy:

NO DIVISION IN SEX LINES

Politics is still a fad to many women, but most women voters take it as a serious force affecting their daily lives and realise that it is a matter which will henceforth demand a regular portion of their best attention. At the last Federal election they voted, for the most part, much as their men folk did. But that election was exceptional. I do not believe that in the future women will vote as women. I believe that any attempt to divide the voters along sex lines would be as disastrous here as it proved in Denmark. Women will vote as citizens, not as women; but there will be a period when they will constitute the majority of the shifting vote; there will be a period during which the greater part of them will charge readily from one of the established parties to the other.

Therefore, I believe that it behooves both of the great parties carefully to preserve the enthusiasms that they have created; Democrats and Republicans must alike labor to keep the women members that they have acquired. Woman must have her full share in the party councils, and if she is to be won or retained the interparty contest must become, at least for a time, a fairer race toward the adoption of her (sometimes exacting, but generally well-inspired) demands as to platform and policies.

Is this a counsel of perfection? I do not think so. Women are, above all, the practical sex. They will soon learn what little of the game they have thus far left unlearned, and they will soon learn to test all their political ideals by the acid of the possible. The party that sincerely wants to do the best for the country and sets about doing it first, and doing it first at home, that is the party which, in the long run, will have the support of the majority of the woman vote—until such time as this vote becomes, as the man vote has so largely become, solidified into party divisions. For this reason the party to convince the women of its desire to help America first, immediately and with our own borders will be the party to which they will largely turn, even so early as November, 1922.

Tokio Views Grow More Moderate As To Tsingtao

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 1.—The 22nd meeting of the First Section of the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission on Tsingtao was held today, when the Chinese commissioners presented a counter-proposal concerning the property reserved for the use of the Japanese Consulate-General and of the Japanese Residents' Corporation.

As the result of a discussion lasting two hours and a half, views of both parties have approached to a large extent, but there still being a slight difference of opinion it was decided to continue the discussion at the next meeting.

Chita Spokesman Denies F.E.R. Will Unite With Soviet

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 1.—A Vladivostok telegram of today's date states:—According to news emanating from the Communists, M. Kobojeff, Chairman of the Chita Cabinet, secretly entered Vladivostok yesterday, by way of Habarovsk. His presence in Vladivostok will be kept secret but he will direct affairs with regard to political organisation.

At a meeting held immediately upon his arrival, M. Kobojeff expressed his dissatisfaction at the manner in which General Uborevitch, Commander of the Chita forces, had interfered in political affairs. He took exception to the scheme for raising freight rates on the Ussuri Railway as well as to the dissolution of the City Assembly and the Provincial Autonomous Assembly.

He warned the military leaders that it was not advisable to incur ill feelings both at home and abroad by making a radical movement for the annexation of the Far Eastern Republic by Soviet Russia.

Dr. Yen Leaves For Extended Journey

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—Dr. W. W. Yen is leaving this evening for Taiyuanfu accompanied by Dr. Hu Wei-teh, former Minister to Tokio and Mr. Hsu Chao-hsiung, a Secretary of the Foreign Office. Dr. Yen will spend several days there and then go to Wu Tai Shan, the famous mountain. After that trip he expects to go down the Peking-Hankow Railway to Changsha.

This trip is supposed to be entirely a personal matter with Dr. Yen and not mixed up with the Cabinet situation. At the same time it is felt that when Dr. Wang's Cabinet falls, Dr. Yen will be drawn in however he feels.

At 100, Keeps Young By Hard Work

HERE is August Rhode, of Bloomington, Ill., who has had 100 birthdays and who believes he is the oldest workman in the world. Rhode started working when he was a boy of ten, his father's death making it necessary that he help provide for the family. He has been working for ninety years, most of the time as a gardener. He was born in West Prussia on August 10, 1822, and since his emigration to America has always lived in Illinois. He is now chief gardener at the St. Joseph's Old People's Home and St. Vincent's Orphanage and says he would die without work.

Tuchun Of Anhui Clings To His Seal

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Oct. 30—General Chang Wen-sen, has repeatedly refused to give up his seal as Tuchun of Anhui, despite the Mandate of the Peking Govenment. His latest excuse was that the An-wo troops had not been paid and he was responsible to them. In order to get around this, the Peking Government asked by wire how much money was needed. After an investigation, the Civil Governor, Hsu Shi-yin, replied that $500,000 would be necessary.

Consequently the Peking Government has instructed the Minister of Finance to be ready with $200,000 and the Civil Governor to provide the remaining $300,000. In that way they hope to call the bluff of General Chang and see if he will not obey their edict.

Tea Prices Up As Imports Decline

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 1.—Shortage of the crop and consequent decrease in stocks is the reason for the increase in the retail price of many brands of tea on Monday by two pence.

An expert said that the crop was variously estimated at from 60,000,000 pounds to 8,000,000 pounds below the average while barely 120,000,000 pounds were bonded as compared with 200,000,000 pounds a year ago.

It seems impossible to replace the stocks and consequently wholesale prizes have risen from one shilling to 18 pence duty free during the past two months.

Shansi Is Waging Drug Traffic War

(Reuter's Pacinc Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—A letter from a correspondent in Shansi of the International Anti-Opium Association, dated October 27, says: "The war of this province is not one of blood, destruction and financial disaster but war against moral and social evil.

"Under the leadership of Governor Yen, Shansi is setting an example not only to the rest of China but one which will obtain the approval of the world. The constructive legislation of this province is the more remarkable because it is unique.

"Whilst the rest of the country is torn with dissention, rivalry and military conflict here we find positive social and national upbuilding.

"The educational organisation, road constructive work by disbanded soldiers, the co-operative methods of local government, etc. are not within my office to expound, but we have already made the League of Nations at Geneva aware of Governor Yen's vigorous campaign against opium and morphia.

"In the recent report of the Shansi branch of the International Anti-Opium Association, of which Governor Yen is the patron, we find that a meeting was called on September 9, 1922, at Taiyuanfu at which thirty-seven Magistrates of different hsien were present, and under the leadership of President Chen Yi-ho and Mr. Liu Chung-wu they discussed regulations for the prohibition of opium and other narcotics.

"The Governor and this branch are unanimous in their determination to clean up the province. The public and people are being educated concerning the evils of opium and morphia by bands of students reaching in all directions. Those students are first instructed and then supplied with anti-opium literature by the Taiyuan branch.

"Sixty sub-branches have been formed in the Kaifeng district alone, and twenty new branches in other parts of the province were reported at the last meeting. The activity of the police may be judged from the seizures and opium burnings. In connection with the Taiyuanfu Higher Inspection Court there were burned a total of 38,613 ounces of morphia, opium and other narcotics, 229,449 morphia pills, 18,655 opium instruments and bags and parcels of pills and powders."
